DECLARES HUSBAND LOVED ANOTHER.

"He told me he wanted to get rid of ne and of our children because he wanted to marry another woman He old me bluntly that he loved an actress, and would marry her if he could get a divorce from me. He is one of those fortunate men whem many women want to marry. I am unfortunate because I still love him and nobody cise-and the worst of t is he known it.

"We have been married eleven years and have two children, Mildred, who s nine years old, and Jack, etz. We moved to No. 2403 Hughes Street about a year ago, and in July we became acquainted with Mr. Eichenhauer, who lived with his two daughters Grace, nineteen, and Lucille. welve-next door in No. 2405. My husband and Mr. Eichenhauer were great friends, and the latter's youngest child played with our two children on much that little Lucille began to call me 'mother.' Mrs. Eichenhauer times, as was testified vestereay, but he often threatened by life and said

"Mr. Eichenhauer has befriended me. I am here in his home as his housekeeper and my wages are $15 a nonth. There is no love between Mr. Eichenhauer and me. We have no intention of getting married. It was testified that Mr. Eichenhauer told Mr. Wilson that he loved me and that Mr. Wilson replied that he knew I loved Mr. Eichenhauer and therefore would give me to him. That is

ur arms around each other, kissing. My husband has told me he would rather work in the deepest Siberian taine than remain with me. What could I do! I !- him too much. I was going to defend my name in to, for I could not win back the man

"So I went to court with Mr. Eichenhauer and a dozen friends and heard the whole terrible story. I only kept from jumping up and screaming my den! by the kno. 'go that I am himocent. I would rather suffer and sacrifice myself if the man I love can be made happy by divorcing me and giving up his children so that he might marry another woman.

"The tragedy of it all was that the "The tragedy of it all was that the subpocus in the divorce suit was served on me on Dec. 2, my thirty-second birthday. It was a tragic birthday present, indeed. If there is anything real between people who believe they are each other's soul mates' I do hope Mr. Wilson finds happiness that way.

"Perhaps it is my misfortune that my love is of a single standard that doesn't know what 'soul mate' means. In the meantime I must continue to carn a living for the children and myself."
